

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of recovering microbial cells in a bioleaching process which includes the steps of subjecting a slurry produced in a bioleaching plant to a solid/liquid separation process, and extracting microbial cells from the resulting liquid.